

The Libraries Love Lawrence (LLL) initiative brings staff members from the KU Libraries and the Lawrence Public Library together to identify and discuss shared opportunities and challenges. In order to effectively serve Lawrence library users - to build trust, sustain relationships, encourage community research activities and engaged scholarly output – our libraries must work together to promote each other’s skills, expertise, collections and resources. The Libraries Love Lawrence (LLL) initiative, conceived of in 2014, brings us closer to this goal by ensuring that Lawrence information seekers, on campus and off, receive a seamless level of service.

By working together, staff from the Lawrence Public Library and the University of Kansas Libraries are better equipped to marshal our resources to build a stronger, more efficient library presence in Lawrence.
